REPLY OF COMPANY

Paper Presented Yesterday to the Colored Pastors of Richmond.

SITUATION RESOLVES ITSELF

There Seems No Reason Now Why New Law Shall Not be a Success and a Benefit.

The spirit of anxiety and restlessness that has existed among the negroes of Richmond and Manchester since the new street car laws were proposed has almost disappeared under the calm and conserv afive action of the colored pastors, and it now seems probable that with the cor-afive action of the colored pastors, and it now seems probable that with the cordial assistance of all the citizens, black and white, the regulations, at first apparently radical and inflaming in the extreme, will prove a blessing and a benefit to all.

At 336 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the Fifth Street Church, the negro ministers gathered in an adjourned seasion and received the written reply of the Virginia Passenger and Power Company to the resolutions presented at the Thursday conference in the office of President Sitterding. By the desire of the preachers Captain Alexander Guigon, junior counsel of the company, appeared and read the reply and explained it. The colored men listened with attention, and when Captain Guigon was through asked soveral questions, which he answered. The utmost harmony and good will prevailed, and the ministers appeared to be entirely satisfied with the situation. It is understood that each will now preach to his congregation to-morrow and endeavor to allay the excitement that has existed. The negro people will be advised to observe the law and the directions scruptulously, and in the confidence that there will be no discrimination against them.

there will be no discrimination against them.

VERY IMPORTANT MATTER.

The new law governing the traffic on street cars is a very important matter, and the very greatest interest is being taken in it throughout the city. The unusual procedure it will establish caused many to view it with surprise, but it is now believed that with the co-operation of all concerned the law can be made a success and a benefit.

The negroes were disturbed over the fact that the law confers police powers upon conductors and vests in them the right to designate seats for passengers. They concluded at once that this would mean an immediate discrimination against them in favor of the whites and the feeling of restlessness and alarm was rapidly gaining ground when the passengely and the feeling of restlessness and alarm was rapidly gaining ground when the passengely and the feeling of restlessness and alarm was rapidly gaining ground when the passengely and the feeling of restlessness and alarm was rapidly gaining ground when the passengers and the feeling of restlessness and alarm was rapidly gaining ground when the passengers and the feeling of restlessness and alarm was rapidly gaining ground when the passengers.

the feeling of restlessness and alarm was rapidly gaining ground when the pastors took a hand and held a consultation with the officers of the company.

BE TREATED FAIRLY.

The reply of the company, submitted yesterday in brief, assured the colored people that they would be treated fairly, and that the law would be carried out with as little inconvenience as possible to anyone. It has been generally overlooked in the discussion of this matter that the law itself specifically provides against discrimination on the ground of color, and that, therefore, the company would itself be performing an illegal act it is permitted the discrimination that was feared.

was learent. There is no reason, there here, why the law shall not be made a success. The company will use every endeavor to make its application as convenient to all  $a\pi$  is possible, and the conductors will be the roughly instructed as to their duties un-der it. With the co-operation of the cit-zens and their recognition of the ex-istence of the law when they are in-structed to occupy the seats designated, there will be no trouble, and the separa-tion of the races, believed to be desired by all, will be accomplished on a fair and just basis that can prove objection-able to no one. roughly instructed as to their duties un

Good Weather and Desirable Conditions Have Increased Retail Distribution.

COAL INDUSTRY IMPROVED

Bradstreet Ascribes This to Removal of Fear of General Strike.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, April 8.—Bradstreet's to-

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, April 8.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Events for the month past are favorable. Weather conditions generally have been springilke, except in some portions of the Northwest. This has increased retail distribution in the cities, while in the country districts favorable weather has helped farmors in their planting preparations and improved the condition of winter wheat. The breaking up of country roads, however, tends to retard
the sale and distribution of merchandlae, lumber and other products. Wholesale and jobbing distributions have been helped in tone rather than in volume by the improvement in weather and in rotali trade. In two of the leading industries, from and steel and lumber, the resumption of outdoor spring activities is helped in tone rather than in volume by the improvement in weather and in retail trade. In two of the leading industries, iron and steel and lumber, the resumption of outdoor spring activities is helping distribution. Soft coal industry has also improved now that fear of a general strike is removed, but thousands, of lowa miners are idle, owing to disputes. Collections, as yet, do not reflect much, if any, improvement, and in common with trade, itself, are especially backward. In sections of the Middle West where recent floods have done damage.

All measures of trade activity prove the first quarter to have run behind a year ago. Fallures, exceed by 8 per cent. those of 1863 in number, though 5 per cent. less than in 1902.

Liabilities exceed a year ago by 70 per cent., and, owing to fallures are the heavlest since 1897. The labor situation is better than it was a week ago, but still retains a mottled appearance.

Cotton goods demand, as for some time in the past, is backward, and this is reflected in curialiment of print cloth mills at Fall River and of spinning and, weaving machinery at other centers.

Business fallures in the United States number 201, against 153 in the like week in 1603.
